ko:symbolism	rdf:type	crm:E77_persistent_item dcterms:description	"Symbolism, a loosely organized literary and artistic movement that originated with a group of French poets in the late 19th century, spread to painting and the theatre, and influenced the European and American literatures of the 20th century to varying degrees. Symbolist artists sought to express individual emotional experience through the subtle and suggestive use of highly symbolized language. The Symbolist manifesto was published by Jean Moréas in Le Figaro on September 18, 1886; in it he attacked the descriptive tendencies of Realist theatre, Naturalistic novels, and Parnassian poetry. He also proposed replacing the term décadent , which was used to describe Baudelaire and others, with the terms symboliste and symbolisme ."
